FUNERAL OF ANTON FLAATEN.

The funeral of Anton Flaaten took place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the service was conducted by Rev. Kumsen at the Norwegian Lutheran church and was quite largely attended by the deceased's fellow workers and friends. Mr. Flaaten was born at Larvik, Norway, 23 years of age and leaves both parents and a number of brothers and sisters to mourn his early death. He has been employed by the Stevens Lumber Co. for three years at their camp at Parrish, where he was taken sick with typhoid fever three weeks ago, and was brought at once to St. Mary's Hospital, but in spite of every care he died on Sunday morning. The Stevens Lumber Co. considered him one of their best men and his popularity with his fellow workmen was attested by the fact that they raised $24 to purchase a beautiful floral piece. The burial took place at Forest Home Cemetery.

FOOT BALL.

ANTHONY R. RHINELANDER 0.

The Antigo High School foot ball team defeated the Rhinelander team, Saturday at the fair grounds by a score of 6 to 0. The two teams were well matched and only for a few fumbles the result would have been nothing to nothing. The score was made in the first half. The last half was a battle from start to finish and neither team scored. The Antigo team had the advantage in weight but the Rhinelander boys were quick and alert to all plays. The officials were fair, perhaps too fair, for Drake of Antigo hurried over all the members of both teams several times and should have been put out of the game. Without his tactics the story might have been different. Surely Rhinelander has nothing to be ashamed of. A couple of the Rhinelander boys made some star plays that kept the opponents guessing.

POSTAL POINTS.

Under the order of the Postoffice Department, excluding from the mails all postal cards bearing any metallic substance, the practice has grown up of enclosing such cards in tissue paper envelopes, sometimes cutting a space in the envelope over the stamp. By a late order of the Department this practice is forbidden. In all such cases, when a postal card is placed in a sealed envelope, whether transparent or not, the cards are subject to first class rates. If in unsealed envelopes, they are subject to first class rates if wholly or partly written. If entirely printed, they are subject to second class rates. If available, stamps placed inside the envelopes will not be recognized. In cases where metallic cards have been so enclosed, the envelopes may be removed and the cards redirected and mailed.

NEXT MONTH'S WEATHER.

Rev. I. B. Hicks says a regular storm period, which is central on October 31st, will have its culmination stages on and touching the 24 and 31 of November. General autumnal rain storms with touches of lightning and thunder to the southward, will center on the 24.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 5th, 6th and 7th. Rains will turn to sleet and snow, generally to the northward.

A regular storm period is central on the 12th, extending from the 10th to the 14th. This period will pass its crisis from Tuesday the 12th to Friday the 14th. Change to warmer, falling barometer and cloudiness will appear in western sections by the 10th and 11th followed promptly by autumnal storms.

A reactionary period falls on the 18th, 19th and 20th. This period will bring falling barometer, with corresponding rise of temperature, followed promptly by cloudiness, rain and possibly snow.

A regular storm period extends from Friday the 22d, to Tuesday the 26th. Look for marked depression of the barometer, higher temperature and more rain, turning to snow north and west, about the 24d, 25th and 26th.

A reactionary storm period is central on the last three days of the month. This period will reach its crisis on the 30th. November will go out with rain, and possibly lightning and thunder. In many places, southward, with rising barometer and rapid change to colder heading down from the northwest with the incoming of December. Upon the whole, November promises to be an average month for all exposed and outdoor interests. Much fair and open weather will alternate with storm periods. The rainfall will be light.

THIS WEEK AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The Spedden-Pudge Stock Company opened a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House on Monday night to a capacity audience. Some time before the curtain rose upon the first act of "The Great Vault Mystery," the company's initial play, standing room was the only thing to be had. Both the drama and the actors found favor early in the evening and the interest was increased as the performance progressed.

Miss Rhakio, the leading lady, is pleasing and displays an abundance of real talent. Her acting was quiet but forcible and she possesses a pleasing personality. The cast, with no exceptions, was competent in its support and a few of the individual members in occasional scenes betrayed exceptional dramatic ability.

Tuesday night's bill was "The Power that Failed," a dramatization of Tenneyson's poem, Dora, and the character of Old Farmer Allan permitted of some excellent work by Mr. Bruce Rhakio, whose interpretation of an exceedingly difficult role was clean cut and suggests a careful study of the part. Miss Rhakio again found favor in Dora Allan. Mary Morrison was given a good performance by Miss Hardy. William McCarthy in Luke Blomfield was very pleasing, and his work is "finished." All the specialties are good and by their introduction waits between the acts are avoided. The company is featuring Thekla for Friday night and will give a matinee Saturday afternoon.

GOOD ROADS MEETING.

As announced in The New North, a meeting was held at the Pelican Town Hall on Saturday afternoon October 26, to present to those interested a report of the Good Roads Association held at Milwaukee and lay plans for the organization of a permanent local movement.

Mr. H. E. Knapp, Chairman of the Town of Pelican and County Vice President of the Good Roads Association explained his plan to organize a town association and urged all present to put forth every effort to awaken the interest of the public and carry on a strong campaign of education. His plan to organize associations in all the towns of Oneida county and then unite them in one county association. Several other prominent men who attended the state meeting also spoke very strongly in favor of the movement.

Steps were taken at the last session of legislature to amend the constitution so the state could help in this cause, then a good roads commission will be appointed and an engineer chosen by the state to oversee the work, and counties complying with the requirements will receive state aid, the same as the public schools do now.

After Mr. Knapp had explained the object of the association a committee was appointed to draw up by-laws for a permanent town organization. The meeting was very enthusiastic and well represented the people of the town. It is a move in the right direction and will help to educate the voters and send them to the polls next fall to speak through the ballot box.

SURVEY COMPLETED.

The survey for the Fox River Valley Interurban line, which will connect Milwaukee with Appleton and Green Bay and complete the circuit around Lake Winnebago, was completed October 23.

The main line, as now surveyed, will run north from Milwaukee, through Washington, Cedar Grove, Sheboygan, Manitowish, then over through Sherwood and High Cliff to Appleton.

At Appleton the line will connect with the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power Co.'s line, giving a connection at Kaukauna to Green Bay, and at Neenah to Oshkosh and Fond du Lac. A branch line will also be constructed from Sheboygan to Fond du Lac, thus completing the interurban circuit around Lake Winnebago, the largest lake in the United States wholly within one state.

MEN AND THE CHURCH.

A sermon preached at the First Congregational Church on Sunday morning by Rev. C. L. Hocking, Text Jeremiah 5:1.

"Speaking generally, men are not very closely identified with the church. They are willing to recognize the church as a power for good, and to contribute something toward its support; but they do not give it its true place in their affections—attending its services and entering heartily into its work. This attitude however, although true of the men in all states of the Union, meets its exception in certain localities. The beautiful little city of Evanston, Ill., seems very much of a model in this regard. Its men are churchmen. In all the churches on Sunday morning you will see the men of the home at Divine Worship with their wife and family.

"Our own great state of Wisconsin however, I fear, cannot boast of many exceptional localities of church-going men. The Y. M. C. A. of this state supplies the following figures: of the 200,000 young men resident in the state, more than one-half never enter a church; only one-fifth attend church regularly and less than one-tenth are enrolled members of churches. These are statistics concerning the attitude of young men, but they indicate also the practice of the older men, for boys and young men very closely follow the attitude of their fathers and the men of their city in respect to the church. But the attitude of the men is not so. An attitude of hostility to the church, but an attitude of indifference. Very few denounce the church, but many renounce it; their spirit is not that of fiery hatred but of cold neglect.

"How may we account for this attitude of the men?

I. We must not forget that the church has high ideals, and that Christlike demands are exacted and exacting. It is easier to be anything else consistently than to be a Christian and a churchman. Many men have inquired concerning Christianity, and like the rich young ruler have disliked its conditions, and have gone away sorrowful.

II. Many are kept aloof by ignorant prejudices. Some consider the church to be a place where men get "lectured," and as they do not relish being castigated for their sins they absent themselves. Others regard the church as more hypocritical than real, and lament the weaknesses of the "freeable saints." Both these classes are wholly mistaken, but their prejudices are deep seated.

III. The church has not been strong enough to capture the leaders of men. Civilized men have this in common with wild horses, that they follow their natural leaders. If certain merchants, lawyers, physicians, journalists and politicians in a city are non-churchmen, many other men will be non-churchmen too. In every place there are a few leaders and many followers.

IV. Many men were lost to the church in boyhood. The church once had them in its grasp, but did not hold them; did not understand them, did not awaken to the herdsman of the Cross, and to the magnificence of consecrated devotion to Christ, he will become but an indifferent churchman, and he may become only an indifferent worldlyling.

V. The long and weary hours of exhausting business toil, also disposes men to church going and church activity. Not only are men so severely pressed by business that they are inclined to take the Sabbath more as a day of physical rest, than of religious worship, but often they will not attend a theatre or a lodge meeting of a week night, for the same reason. It is observed that 85 per cent of theatre audiences are women; men are overworked, and they like to sit around, or lie around, at ease, when work is over.

"I have mentioned five causes of the indifference of men to the church and others might be added, but I will proceed to another phase of my subject. Although man may be indifferent he is not hopelessly so. He is destined to be won to Christ and the church, and to be largely utilized in the coming triumphs of religion. But how will the church win the men? What is the remedy? The remedy is largely with the men already in the church, that is, the Pastor and men members of the church. If they will band together and stand together and pray together and work together, and seek a high and satisfactory religious experience, and translate that experience into many aggressive persuasive churchmanship, they may advance to attack the indifference of the men outside. There is no church in the city of Rhinelander but which has men enough in its enrollment, who if united, and fired with an impassioned christian spirit could not make extensive inroads upon the ranks of the indifferent. When the Hon. T. C. MacMillan of Chicago was elected Moderator, a few days ago, of the National Council of Congregational churches at Cleveland, O., he said, 'I would rather occupy this position than be President of the United States.' And I wondered why he should say that. But I found the explanation in what Dr. John Paville had said in seconding his nomination to the Moderator's chair. Dr. Paville said 'Mr. MacMillan has for years rendered large services to the Congregational churches of Illinois; indeed, when there is difficult piece of work to be done for the church, Mr. MacMillan is the man always willing to undertake it.' Now it is easy to explain the Moderator's words. They reveal his great spirit of Christian consecration and churchmanship. This is a spirit worth while. O that it may pervade and possess the men of the churches."

MACLEAN-BRYANT COMPANY

The welcome news to local theatre patrons is the fact that Mr. A. L. Porter has secured a return date for these two favorites, Mr. P. G. MacLean and Miss Nana Bryant, both of whom were seen here September 2nd. All of the old favorites with the company will return and the company has been strengthened and now includes 15 people. Mr. MacLean and Miss Bryant are without a doubt the best liked of any leading man and leading woman making Rhinelander and Mr. Porter gives his personal guarantee that the company is tip top.

The company is playing this week at Chippewa Falls, where Mr. MacLean owns and manages his own theatre, The Victor. The opening play will be a premier production of one of Mr. MacLean's best efforts as a playwright, the title "A Woman's Redemption." It is a melodrama dealing with life in the blue grass region of Old Kentucky, and contains a sweet story, full of incidents, thrilling and realistic. Miss Bryant, who has been the "Woman" and Mr. MacLean, as the hero.

The following telegram was received by Mr. Porter, from the manager of the Opera House at Merrill, Wis., where the company played last week: "There may be one or two, just as good as the MacLean Company, but none better, playing at popular prices."

The prices for the engagement here will be 10, 20 and 30 cents. The same as on their former visit, although the regular prices of this company are 15, 25 and 35 cents. Seats will be on sale at the opera house all this week, and a bumper house should greet these favorites next Monday night.

THREE MORE BANKS FAIL IN NEW YORK

THEY WERE RATHER SMALL INSTITUTIONS, HOWEVER, AND FINANCIAL TONE IMPROVES.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR SOUTHERN STEEL CO.

Involuntary Petition in Bankruptcy Charges That Great $25,000,000 Concern Acknowledges Inability to Pay Debts.

New York, Oct. 25.—With all the great generals of finance and the secretary of the United States treasury acting in accord to restore financial confidence in the banking and trust company situation in this city, sentiment took on a much more cheerful tone in Wall street Thursday and distinct improvement was visible in all quarters of the financial district. The day opened with optimistic statements from officials of the Trust Company of America, and up to two o'clock in the afternoon that institution was paying all checks presented as rapidly as possible. A welcome feature of that company's affairs Thursday was that large deposits amounting to considerably more than a million dollars were made during the morning hours.

Rockefeller Deposits $10,000,000. John D. Rockefeller deposited $10,000,000 with one of the city's oldest trust companies to be used in extending aid to such trust companies as might require it.

Stock Market Very Weak. The stock market turned very weak shortly after two o'clock, Union Pacific selling down to par, a decline of 8 1/2. Reading sold down 8 points below Wednesday. Northern Pacific declined 9 points. St. Paul and Southern Pacific, 4 1/2. There was no news to account for the decline except the scarcity of money supplies and the advance in the money rate to 100 per cent.

It was announced on the stock exchange at 2:20 that a pool had been formed which would supply the brokers with all the money required to close their operations.

There were violent feverish rallies in the stock market following the decline, Union Pacific rising in a few minutes to 105 and Reading to 75. Prices jumped a full point in some cases between sales. Northern Pacific rallied 4 1/2, Amalgamated Copper also rose 3 1/2 from the lowest.

At 2:25 following the announcement of a pool organized to satisfy money requirements on the stock exchange, call money was lending at 10 per cent.

Helms and Charles Morse in several banks and financial ventures, was formerly president of the Hamilton bank, but resigned after the bank in United Copper stock, which marked the beginning of the recent financial troubles in this city.

Orlando P. Thomas, brother of E. R. Thomas, also recently resigned as a director, and William H. Montgomery was elected president. The bank has a capital stock of $200,000 and deposits of about $7,000,000. The bank has four branches in New York city.

Twelfth Ward Bank Closes. Following the announcement of the suspension of the Hamilton bank came the news that the Twelfth Ward bank, located at 125th street and Lexington avenue, had suspended payment. Empire City Suspends. The Empire City Savings bank, located at 221 West 125th street, posted a notice Thursday morning announcing its suspension for thirty days under the banking laws. The officials of the bank declare that the institution is entirely solvent, but that they had decided to avail themselves of the thirty days' notice of withdrawal under the state law because they feared a run, owing to the suspension of payment by the Hamilton bank in the same neighborhood. The Empire City Savings bank, according to a recent statement, owed its depositors about $3,200,000.

MYSTERY ENVELOPS DISAPPEARANCE OF HUGE SUM FROM MILWAUKEE OFFICE.

THINK THIEF KNEW THE COMBINATION

Theory Is That Money Was Taken by an Employee of the United States Company, But No One Is Missing from Office.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 25.—Investigation into the loss of approximately $24,000 from the railway depot office of the United States Express company in this city shows that the money was probably taken by an employee who was thoroughly familiar with the surroundings and with the best means of making away with the plunder.

Thief Knew Combination. The thief apparently had knowledge of the combination of a large safe in the office. None of the employees is missing and the question of locating the guilty whether upon an employee or former employee or some outside person familiar with the safe combination and office surroundings has not yet been determined.

Thomas McDonald, superintendent of the United States Express Company said:

McDonald Is Silent. "Up to the present moment I have nothing definite to state. In fact, I am not in possession of facts which would warrant any statement to the press. I hope to be in position to give some reliable information later."

First reports were that $18,000 in gold and paper had been stolen.

While officials of the company refuse to either deny or affirm the report, it is known that all Thursday clerks and messengers of the company were called into the private office of General Superintendent C. ## NEWS OF WISCONSIN

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST IN THE VARIOUS TOWNS.

SAVE WOMEN FROM FIRE

Bristol Father and His Son Are Heroes of a Midnight Blaze Risking Their Lives to Rescue Others.

Kenosha.—Solomon Upson and Frank Upson, his son, two residents of the town of Bristol, were the heroes of a midnight fire on the Upson farm when they carried two unconscious women from the burning ruins of the Upson home. Miss Ella Upson and Mrs. C. L. Cotting of Red Cloud, Ia., were sleeping in the upper rooms when the fire broke out. Miss Upson managed to get through the smoke and flames to the stairway and fell unconscious into the arms of her brother who had started to rescue her.

When Miss Upson had been carried out it was found that Mrs. Cotting was still in her room. The entire upper part of the house was in flames when both men returned to the rescue of Mrs. Cotting. As they pushed open the door of the room in which she had been sleeping they stumbled over her unconscious form. The son picked up the woman and started for a front window and the father attempting to aid him was overcome by the smoke.

The son, taking both his father and his aunt, managed to reach the window and kicking it out he carried the two unconscious people out onto a veranda. By this time neighbors had arrived and they assisted in getting the two people down. The house was completely destroyed with a loss of $3,000.

"THE WHITE PERIL"

BABA BHARATI

For East is East and West is West.

And never the twain shall meet.

It is not improbable that Rudyard Kipling saw the gulf dividing the two civilizations in his early acquaintance with Baba Bharati when both were journalists in India. It is certain that Bharati saw it, for he came to the Occident avowedly to study the possibilities of bridging it. Now, after five years among us he has gone back to his own people, never, he says, to return. And with his perspective of time, old ideas of civilization and disinterestedness Baba Bharati, "citizen of the universe," ascetic, philosopher and apostle of the purely spiritual life, sees war impending between east and west; a war, not of the west against the "yellow peril," but of the east against what he calls the "white peril" of aggressiveness and materialism.

"The Orient will rise and drive the white man forth. This will happen in a very few years. By 1915, I believe, this conflict will be well under way. This is my own prophecy, but I find that Lafcadio Hearn made virtually the same forecast some years ago. It is the 'White Peril' from which we suffer in the Orient—Caucasian aggressiveness and soul-killing civilization." Such was Bharati's parting message to the western world.

Baba (Father) Bharati is not to be confounded with the type of picturesque Hindu charlatans who, with appropriate scenery and costumes, have come to America from time to time to wheedle dollars from silly women and men who wear thumb rings. His sponsors were men of like standing with Rev. Dr. R. Heber Newton, Prof. Charles I. Lummis, of Harvard, and Dr. Felix Adler, of the Ethical Culture society. He is a Brahmin of the first order. His father was a magistrate and his uncle a judge of the high court of Calcutta. Twenty years ago he was editor of the Lahore Tribune when Kipling was a newspaper writer there. Later he became the editor and proprietor of a society paper in Calcutta. Then his religious instincts asserted themselves, and for 12 years he became an ascetic, a hermit, living a life of austere simplicity in a Hindu temple, most holy of India's holy lands. While here he met the great Juggo of Baroda, a giant in stature, and believed to be the most spiritual man in India. Under his teachings Baba Bharati came to believe that he had a message to carry to the Caucasian world. He did not wish to go, and for a time he struggled against what he deemed a command from on high. Then he went forth, and now he regards his work well done. He is happy in the thought of return, yet has learned to love the American people and feels pangs of regret at leaving them forever.

The Orient for Orientals.

Large of frame, with the prayer cloth of his "Krishna" yellow and inscribed with wondrous words to the Hindu faith, wound around his turban, long raven black curls dropping down about his shoulders, with an eye as clear as Rhineland wine and a face of peculiarly benign mien, yet strongly chiseled, combining as it does a certain acquired western vigor with the placidity and calmness of the Orient—Baba Bharati is a striking figure. He has studied the Occident and its ways and declares that the aggression, the tremendous conceit and the blindness of the white race are going to bring about the uprising of all Asia—that Asia will be free at last from domination and oppression by foreign hands and that a new Monroe doctrine will be called into being and the Orient will be for the Orientals alone.

The western coast just now is aroused over the "Hindu Peril," as it is called. Hundreds, even thousands, of Hindus are coming across the Pacific, and the western states and western Canada fear a very deluge. So great has been the feeling in some places that the white laborers have driven the dusky invaders out, as the Chinese were sent forth from certain western cities in early days. But Baba Bharati declares there is no such thing as the "Hindu Peril." It is rather the "Japanese Peril" on this side of the Pacific, or the "White Peril" on the other side of the ocean.

When Hindus that come to the American shore are really not Hindus in the common acceptance of the term; rather they are half Hindus, skids from Upper India, with a different religion and different ideas," said Baba Bharati in an interview I had with him at the Hotel Stander just before the Minnesota sailed. He continued: "There is no cause to fear an invasion, for only a few of the skids will come. And they are not an aggressive people. If they find they are not wanted they will not cross the Pacific. There is no cause to fear."

The Hindu philosopher and sage talked for an hour or more on this western world we know, his eastern world, religion, literature, modern conditions, his own life and experiences, his hopes, ambitions, and made predictions of such amazing nature regarding the future readjustment of relations across the Pacific as to startle any person who thinks on the shadows that portend coming events. In this interview he summed up a message he wished to convey in farewell to the America he is leaving.

"The New York Herald gave me and my mission most helpful publicity, and leaving my own shores, I was to lecture. Thirty persons came to hear me, and when I had finished speaking they placed upon the table $30 in money. I almost wept. They explained that a Hindu cannot take coin for sustenance he gives either to the body or the soul. One can travel all through my country without being able to buy cooked food, and spiritually it is not for barter and sale, either.

showing good business ability and understanding up to that instant—she merely stared at him, with increasing bewilderment showing upon her face, and neither said a word nor made any attempt at writing.

"Just sign your maiden name, you know; that's all," repeated the clerk. "I—I—know what you say," stammered Mrs. L., "but I can't remember to save my life. I've been married twice, and it is a very long time since I've had occasion to use my original name. I know you must think it's very queer, and it is, but I shall have to go home and find out the name."

She disappeared hastily, relieved to escape from the clerk's astonished eyes.

"This was merely the mistake of commercialized America. These New Yorkers thought, in their simple way, that money could pay for anything. Yet I found them warm hearted and altogether lovable, just as all other Americans are. When they can be halted for a few moments in their mad pursuit of gold they have admirable natures, I find.

"The trouble with America is that it is building on a material plane. It is making tremendous progress in all things material, but we of the Orient understand the spiritual. We live not for today, but for all time, and when you forget the soul, as you do, you are making a sad mistake. Your modern 'Christianity' is spoiling your Christianity. Your ministers of the gospel want more spirituality. They do not elevate themselves above the level of the visible, material world. Your much vaunted progress counts for naught.

"You look at life on the surface; we of the Orient look at it in its depth, in the cool and quiet places, where there is no turbulence and no mad scramble. America is afflicted with national nervousness, as I call it. In certain directions you call it frenzied finance. I see it in every phase of life. I observe it where you do not suppose it exists.

"In India religion is the chief business of life. All else is subordinate. It is the true anchor of the Hindu. In the morning he arises, and after his bath he gives up two hours to spiritual thought and contemplation—at least two hours. Then he looks after the needs of his body. All else is subordinate to this reverence for the Creator and those things which typify and represent Him.

"Christianity, in its teachings, is sublime. I preach Christ as much as I do my Krishna, who represents to me the great incarnation of God. God is love, as Christ says, and that is all there is to any religion. The Bible, which I respect and love, is merely a page from the Vedas of India. They contain all its truths, and more.

"But you can see only your own religion. I can see the good of all. When I became an ascetic in India I lost my nationality and became a citizen of the Universe. I love all people. When I was in London, even I felt a deep heart interest in the Briton, even though he is oppressing my people.

"The wine maker calls out: 'I have the best wine!' The soap maker calls out: 'My soap is the best!' The minister: 'The no religion like unto mine!' It is pitiful. Christianity is reduced to commercialism."

race in spirituality in the time to come. I went to England and found the English too self-satisfied and smugly contented with themselves to receive my message.

"But Americans yet are children from the spiritual viewpoint. Your minister who taught only spirituality would be boycotted.

"I know your literature and I love it. What is there finer in language than Irving? Mark Twain is the greatest living writer in the world. His 'Following the Equator' is a wonderful book. Through his works, in his humor, there runs that thread of the spiritual that places him high among the great men of letters.

"But to turn to another phase of modern conditions. You in your materialistic progress have given the Orient implements of destruction, while through all the ages we gave you naught but peace. These weapons of warfare the Oriental, inspired by the Japanese, turned upon the Russian, and the result was a war the like of which is unknown in history—not a single reverse for the men of Nippon. Those same Japanese, with reawakened China even greater than Japan, and India at the back of both, are going to show the world a conflict that will make all others pale in comparison.

"America wants to exploit the whole world, but would shut out foreigners from her borders. Is it not likely that foreign nations will retaliate? And then what answer can America make? The Mikado is one of the greatest rulers any nation has produced in modern times. When, ten years before the war with Russia, Japan was deprived of the fruits of her victory over China, she said nothing, but complied with apparently good grace. Then he quietly prepared to punish Russia as the most hated of those powers.

"Future events will come about in this way: President Roosevelt will suggest to Japan that an exclusion treaty be signed preventing Japanese of the lower classes from entering America. This will not meet with favor on the other side of the Pacific, but a storm will arise here which will force through congress some sort of an exclusion measure.

"The Mikado will still hold his peace, but soon after he will frame a message to be sent to Washington, reading something like this: 'You have found it necessary for the protection of your working classes to exclude Japanese from your borders. After careful consideration we find that our country will be benefited by prohibiting the entry of American trade, and a decree is hereby promulgated.'

"What could America do but accede, at least for the time? Yet how could such a condition continue? The great conflict is coming, and while I hate to think of it, while I regret that peace cannot always prevail, still, the people of many countries will be benefited and those of my own India will be free.

News of Wisconsin

Interesting Happenings in the Various Cities and Towns of the State.

WIFE SHOULD SPEND THE MONEY

Duty of Husband Only to Earn, Says Wisconsin Educator.

Fond du Lac.—That the wife is the administrative officer of a family as a business organization, and the husband the provider of the funds to carry on the business, was the proposition advanced by Prof. L. D. Harvey, formerly state superintendent of public instruction, now superintendent of the Stout Training School at Menomonie, in an address on "Education for Girls in the Home" before the convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs.

In other words, it is man's business to earn the money for the family and the wife's to spend the money so as to secure the best results for the home.

Society has established professional and technical schools to teach man how to fulfill his mission as a provider, he said, but it has failed to recognize what an important factor woman is in the family and to provide technical schools for her training.

DYNAMITE BLAST KILLS FOUR.

Factory Near Ashland Blows Up with Disastrous Results.

Ashland.—No. 2 mixing mill of the Atlantic Dynamite company's factory blew up. The mill is about six miles southwest of Ashland. Two hundred pounds of nitroglycerin exploded. The cause has not been discovered. The dead are: Arnold Hustland, 32 years old; Ole Wicks, 19 years old; Peter Wicks, 17 years old. A fourth man is torn to pieces so badly that he cannot be identified. A score or more people are believed to have been injured. The work train had just pulled out, otherwise a larger number of men would have been killed. The bodies of the four men killed were brought to Ashland.

DINNER BELL WEDDING CARD.

Widow Calls Neighbors. Announces Marriage, Then Rings Again.

Milwaukee.—When Widow Schultz was married to Henry Grapenstien, a widower, she didn't send out announcements and at home cards. With her new husband she stepped out on the back porch with a large dinner bell. The ringing brought out late sleepers in a hurry, and when they had all assembled on their respective back porches Mrs. Schultz-Grapenstien solemnly announced that the knot had been tied. There were more vigorous clings of the bell, and then all was again peace.

Shoot in Chippewa Feud. Chippewa Falls.—While driving along on a gasoline engine near Chippewa Valley Junction, William Steward was shot at by John A. Clemens who fired seven shots at him. After the second shot, Steward jumped down and took his gun and fired five shots at Clemens. Neither succeeded in wounding the other. There has been trouble between the two parties for several years and because of this each has always been armed, being prepared to shoot the other whenever the opportunity should present itself.

Wife Beats the Strange Plea. Chippewa Falls.—John Jackson, of Cadott, claimed in court that his wife's Methodistism had driven him to drink and that she was indirectly responsible for his beating her. However, he wanted one more chance to be good, but he was given the choice of leaving the county at once or going to the state prison. He chose the former. Judge Jenkins instructed his wife to let him know if her husband ever put in an appearance in Cadott as he would then be rearrested on the old charge of wife beating.

He was a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity.

MUST NOT MARRY DIVORCEES.

Evangelical Ministers Told When to Refuse to Perform Ceremony.

Milwaukee.—The Evangelical association has joined those other churches which place a ban on the marriage of divorcees. In resolutions adopted at the session of the conference ministers were called upon to refuse to marry divorced persons. The committee in its report said: "The marriage ceremony should mean something more than a few mumbled words to legalize cohabitation of a man and wife." Because of "thoughtless, prayerless, meaningless marriages," it was held, the divorce courts are crowded.

LEAVE THROUGH REMORE.

Man Who Accidentally Killed Tramp Sells Out and Goes.

Wausau.—The accidental killing of a tramp whom he was taking to jail has so preyed on the mind of Richard Heyrle, and affected his wife, that they intend to sell their farm near Milan and leave this section. The man, who has turned out to be an escaped prisoner from the Bedford jail whose home is in Manitowish, was found sleeping in Heyrle's house, taking him to jail with a neighbor. Heyrle was forced to shoot the man in self-defense. The coroner's jury turned that verdict.

Illiteracy Increases in Wisconsin.

Despite the fact that the population of the state is rapidly increasing at a rate of about 32,000 annually the attendance of children to the schools of the state shows no increase. From the reports submitted to the state superintendent's office for the past year it is evident there has been no increase in attendance over the year before. Ten years ago the state of Wisconsin was ranked as eighth in the list for illiteracy by the commissioner of education of the United States government; now it ranks twelfth. The number of people who cannot read or write, according to the federal statistics, is rapidly increasing in the state. The reports show that the number of persons of school age in the state on June 30, last, was 772,514. During the year the attendance of the schools was 622,275, which is 250,000 less than the number which are in the school age limits. The compulsory education law has operated quite successfully in cities during the past year and about 91 per cent. of the children of school age were in attendance. In the rural districts only about 70 per cent. of the children were in attendance. The report of the increasing illiteracy in the state incited the recent legislature to pass a law compelling children to attend the schools 24 weeks in the year. The enactment of this stringent compulsory education law also requires that the children shall have enrolled within the first month after the school has opened. The amount expended for the past year was $9,094,012.88. Of this amount there was expended on the city schools, $4,094,380.01; and on the schools in the counties $4,999,632.87. As a result of the common school tax, amounting to $1,379,410, collected upon the state assessment announced a few days ago, every school district receives an amount of money in proportion to the number of children of school age within the district. Last year each child of school age brought to the district as the result of this tax $2.16. This year the amount each child will bring will be about $2.26—an increase of ten cents as the result of the increase of the tax to be collected.

Cabbage Growers Ask Relief.

Cabbage growers of the village of Union Grove have applied to the state railroad rate commission for relief, claiming that the Milwaukee road is responsible for a car shortage, and that empty cars which are assigned for Union Grove never reach there, but are sidetracked at Corliss and other places near Chicago, with the result that all stations west of Corliss are left without an adequate means of shipment. The residents of the village have also asked the state commission to take action toward the removal of the railway stockyards at that place.

School Savings Banks.

School savings banks have been established in Superior and the rules for the working of the bank have been formulated. The children are allowed to make deposits from one cent up to $10. The teachers receive the money, turn it over to the principals and they in turn put it in the bank. Each school voted on the bank. It would have for a depository. After the children have once put the money in it is impossible to get it back without the O. K. of the principal of the school.

Snap Matches Cost State Heavily.

Wisconsin has paid a penalty of $106,327 in the past 60 days for using "skynoke" or "red-headed matches." This is the result of an investigation which has been carried on by the state fire marshal's department during the last two months. "The snap or skynoke match, of the so-called parlor variety, is a variety of the lightning bolt," declared State Fire Marshal T. M. Purcell, in speaking of the recent reports to that department and the causes of the same.

Increased Value of Land.

This shows a gain of four dollars per acre in value over the preceding year, and 1906 showed practically the same gain over 1905. Figures for the city of Menominee show a marked advance in the price of lots over the year 1906. Increases of large areas are reported from other sections of Wisconsin.

Granted Writs of Certiorari.

Upon petition writs of certiorari have been granted by the United States supreme court at Washington to the court of appeals for the Seventh circuit in several cases of interior Wisconsin. Case Threshing Machine company, petitioner, against the Indiana Manufacturing company.

Sail Club Must Report.

The secretary of state has notified the American League baseball club of Chicago, which was incorporated under the laws of the state of Wisconsin, that its annual report must be filed before January 1, 1908, or the rights and privileges granted under the articles of incorporation will be forfeited. The notice is just a formal proceeding and the report will be of the same nature.

President Roosevelt has set Thursday Nov. 28th, for general Thanksgiving. It is hoped that the evil results of the stock gamblers will have passed by that time and conditions settled down to a normal state.

The Record-Herald wisely urges the national Republican committee to shelve its call for the next convention that delegates legally chosen under the Wisconsin law may not be shut out as they were three years ago last June.

If the President would try the northern Wisconsin hunting grounds he would feel ashamed of the strenuous days he spent in the capture of that lone bear. There are no political strings to pull but the blood-thirstiness could be quenched by a slaughter of wolves, that are destroying the deer.

Ex-Governor Scofield sued the Free Press for libel some time ago, asking one hundred thousand dollars as damages either to his reputation or a plaster for his aching heart.

The Free Press published an article in which a man accused the Ex-Governor of corrupting political conditions by the use of money. The court vindicated the plaintiff last week by allowing six cents damages but the ex-governor must pay his own costs. Had Mr. Scofield realized, several years ago, that his style of a politician was out of date and had he graciously stepped down and out, he would not have been humiliated at his time of life.

COUNTY ORGANIZATION.

The movement to organize the Northern Wisconsin counties for the purpose of co-operating in promoting immigration seems about to be crowned with success. The preliminary work of organizing county development associations in the various northern counties is nearly complete. Local organizations have been perfected in twelve or more counties, and delegates chosen to represent those local organizations in the convention which will be held in Hayward November 7th. Four or five other counties have taken the first steps toward organizing, and it appears that at least sixteen counties will be represented in the Hayward convention.

This convention, made up of two delegates from each county development association, will perfect the organization of a federation along the lines recommended by the Northern Wisconsin Farmers' Association, the organization which has for several years maintained the famous "Grassland" advertising car. While details of methods to be used remain to be determined by the convention, the general purpose will be to co-operate with the State Board of Immigration and with the Wisconsin Immigration and Development Association in "boosting" Northern Wisconsin. That co-operation in this manner will result in more systematic and effective work in advertising to the homeseekers or the unequalled opportunities offered by Northern Wisconsin cannot be doubted.

The possible and practical lines of work which could be carried on by such an association are numerous. The advertising car "Grassland" is one of the most effective means of advertising our agricultural resources that could be devised. Another very effective means would be the employment of a lecturer, supplied with stereotyped views illustrating our resources and what has been accomplished by settlers now here, also carrying an exhibit of grasses and grains. Other methods would be the placing of exhibits of agricultural products in prominent places in the thickly settled sections. Various other methods will suggest themselves which could be employed by this federation to carry to the laborer, the renter and the ambitious young man in the over populated sections, knowledge of the fertility and productiveness of Northern Wisconsin, its cheap land, accessible markets, unexcelled railway facilities, and its host of advantages over the bleak and inhospitable prairies.

The work of organization has been taken up in the various counties with an enthusiasm that presages success. It should receive the hearty approval and support of all who have the best interests of Northern Wisconsin at heart.

DEATH CALLS.

As we go to press we learn of the death of Mrs. J. A. Conro, Jr., last evening, after a continued illness of several months. Mrs. Conro, nee Gertrude Shelp, has made this city her home from childhood and is a graduate of the High School, Class of 1905, and was one of the most popular and beloved as well as scholarly members of her class. After graduation she taught school one year and July 1908 she was married to J. A. Conro, Jr., who, a few months after, went west with the expectation that she would follow as soon as he had permanently located. Shortly after his departure, her health began failing, until her condition became so serious that it was advised she be taken to Mud Lava, Ind. During a treatment of several weeks there she grew worse until it was thought best to bring her home, since which time she has rapidly failed until late last evening when death came. Mrs. Conro will be greatly mourned and missed in various circles. She was a young woman of sterling qualities, unusually active and bright, and was an active worker in the Episcopal church. Her husband, J. A. Conro, of Portland and her father, Thomas Shelp, of British Columbia, arrived the first of the week. The other near surviving relatives in this city are her mother, sister Margaret and brother Harvey. Time of the funeral has not been set at this time.

NEW AGENT AT SOO.

R. F. Tompkins, who has been agent at the Soo Station since his connections with the road today and E. Slosson takes the position. Since Mr. Tompkins came to this city six years ago, the local business of the Soo road has been greatly increased at this point. His affable manner and at the same time his sagacity as a business man have won for him the reputation of a first class official.

E. Slosson, who has been in the employ of the Soo for fourteen years receives a well earned promotion and we believe will carry on the good work which Mr. Tompkins has so ably handled. Those who do business with the road regret that the former agent is to leave but are pleased that Mr. Slosson is to receive the well earned promotion.

Mr. Tompkins immediately goes into business in Milwaukee with Gerry E. Browne of this city as dealers in paper mill supplies. Mr. Tompkins' knowledge of business and men and Mr. Browne's knowledge of the paper mill business assure the firm success from the start. Mr. Tompkins goes to Milwaukee tonight, but the family will not go until later.

THE BANK SITUATION.

On account of the strenuous money market in New York, it has been necessary to pour large sums into the stock markets and banks of that city. While the financial crisis is past in New York, the scarcity of ready cash is now being felt by the smaller banks because all banks in the larger cities are holding the money which the smaller banks have on deposit with them, to protect themselves. This condition necessarily leaves the smaller institutions without ready cash and forces them to adopt the same methods that the large concerns have taken with them, viz: the check system.

While there is apparently no occasion for alarm, yet the people must work in co-operation with their banks until this stringency in money matters has passed. When after a short time, the banks are again able to pay cash on checks, the people should be "sane" and draw only what is necessary for their wants and avoid "runs" which would be disastrous to their interests. Money must not be hoarded up out of "fear" as to what may come, it must be put into circulation.

NEW SWITCH BOARD.

The Mutual Telephone Company have installed their new switch board and for some time there may be a little delay by the operators until they get used to the new board. For several months the old board has been so overloaded that the operators have been unable to give satisfaction when really it was not their fault at all. If the people will have a little patience everything will come well. The stockholders of the company realized the need of a new board for some time but did not see their way clear to make the large outlay necessary. The change is made and the management should be praised for what they have accomplished for the betterment of the system.

PIONEERS TO CHANGE RESIDENCE

Mrs. Ed. Vessey, daughter Winnie and son Carroll left for Pasadena, Saturday, to make that city their future home. Elton went several weeks ago and Mr. Vessey will leave shortly. The Vesseys have lived in this city twenty-three years, their home on Onelia Ave. recently purchased by Frank Jackson having been one of the very first to be constructed on Onelia Ave. They leave a host of friends who deeply regret their departure.

MBLEADING THE YOUNG IDEA.

Eloquent Lecturer Nothing More Than a Nature Fakier.

The eloquent lecturer was discoursing on the wonders of nature, "Dis-gressing for a moment," he said, "did it ever occur to you that there is not a principle in mechanics, not a single ingenious device in the application of power, that has not been anticipated in the marvelous structure of the human body? Take the familiar instance of the cogwheel. The first cogwheels, so to speak, were the knuckles of the human mind. Double your fists, put them together in front of you, with the backs upward, placing each knuckle of one fist in the depression between two knuckles on the other fist. Holding them tightly together in this manner oscillate them back and forth, and you have the original geared machinery that suggested the cogwheel. When you go home, boys, place the knuckles of your fists together in this same way, put them under a heavy weight, and you will find that by imparting a cogwheel motion to them you can lift 250 pounds with perfect ease." When the boys went home, they tried it, and found it wasn't true. They had listened to another nature fakier.

Master's Gentle Hint.

The story goes that a pretty young lady once played in class a ballad by Chopin in a very amateurish way. List walked up and down the room excitedly murmuring: "Heiliger Bimbami! Heiliger Bimbami!" (the equivalent, apparently, of "Great Scott!") But when she had finished he went up to her in a most friendly manner, laid his hand upon her head as if in benediction, and said, gently: "My dear child, marry soon. Good-by!"

KILAUEA WORTH A VISIT.

Hawaii's Show Volcano is One of the World's Wonders.

Kilauea, the spur of the great Mauna Loa, is a well-behaved volcano, as it can be visited with perfect safety, even if in eruption—as it is from time to time—when exhibitions of activity are given that are worth traveling thousands of miles to witness. This volcano is on the island of Hawaii, and the shortest possible trip that can be made to it from Honolulu covers four days. This allows only half a day at the volcano, which is much too short a time to study the workings of what is considered one of the world's wonders. A week at least should be given to the trip. The sea voyage is always more or less rough, but the boats, although small, are comfortable. From Hilo, where the water trip ends, there is a railroad ride of about 18 miles through the big Olua sugar plantation. This is followed by a stage run of 11 miles over a road leading through a perfect fairyland of tropical foliage, the highway being lined on either side with rows of magnolias and ferns, which just grow to the size of trees without losing any of their delicate beauty. Returning by the other route, there is a stage drive of 35 miles over lava roads and across the great flow which ran into the sea from Mauna Loa several years ago.—Lusile's Weekly.

Diamonds in America.

Since 1830 many American diamonds have been authenticated, but none before has been found "in place." Most of those in the United States, Guiana and Brazil have come to light through the "breaking down," or washing away, of the original rocks, which allows the diamonds to be washed into brooks and river gravels, as in South America. Many have been found in the glacial moraine of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin, whether prehistoric glaciers had swept them from some point in Canada. Search is now being made for the original resting place of these stones by several surveying parties along the line of the new transcontinental railway from Quebec to Winnipeg.—Review of Reviews.

Superstitions About Water.

Delightfully quaint are all the superstitions concerning water, and one which never fails to send little thrills along one's spine is that which holds that, if water is taken with soup, the drinker will cough in his grave. A lively quarrel is said to be the result of two friends washing their hands in the same water; and while water poured on the doorstep ensures prosperity, water thrown out will soon give cause to weep. Pleasant indeed for the maiden is the belief that every time she spills water her lover thinks upon her; but for the housewife the spilling of water foretells that ere she can dry it up, her house will be full of callers.

Sold His Eternal Salvation.

Rodion Dielo, a Russian newspaper, reproduces from the original a curious deed of transfer. The document runs: "I, the undersigned, Nicola Neepphorovitch, peasant, 38 years of age, of the Dogmarovsk district of Melitopol, have fallen into evil days. I am at the end of my resources, and hereby certify that I have sold for the sum of 50 rubles my eternal salvation and place in the kingdom of heaven to Makar Selonky. The signature is attested by one elder of the village council.

Corrosion of Boilers.

Corrosion or the wasting away of the iron of a steam boiler may be due to the acid in the feed water, says the add in the feed water, says the add in the feed water, says the add in the feed water. Where sulphuric acid is found in this water its destructive force is often spent in actually entering the boiler. This is expensive, annoying, and even dangerous in some cases, but is much preferable to a boiler explosion.

How It's Done.

Assistant Telegraph Editor—"Eighty mortal accidents in the Alps this year. What's a good headline for that?" Telegraph Editor—"That's easy; 'Marked Falling Off in Alpine Expeditions.'"

"Implosion."

Every one knows what an explosion is; but its opposite, an implosion, is less familiar. At great depths in the sea the conditions are favorable for its production. At 2,500 fathoms the pressure is, roughly speaking, two and a half tons to the square inch; that is to say, several times greater than that exerted by the steam on the piston of a powerful engine.

His Recommendation.

An old negro, applying to a former employer for a letter of recommendation, said: "Dose put it down dar dat I been livin' here all my life, an' ain't been lyuched yit!"—Atlanta Constitution.

THE GIRLS GIVE MOTOR ADVICE—AT FANCY PRICES.

By Helena Smith Dayton.
Pictures by Angie Breakpear.
"The only thing people would rather pay for than get for nothing is advice," remarked Tilly Googan sagely, as she studied the appointment book. "Here are seven persons coming for our opinion this afternoon!"

"Who are they—and what about?" demanded Lily. "You made the appointments while I was away."

"Losing the Googans' hard-earned dollars," supplemented Tilly. "But speaking of our clients, none of them stated their cases. There's a Mrs. Wheelerton Pembroke—"

"Tilly read from the engagement book.

"Never heard of her," interrupted Lily. "No doubt she wants us to be consultation with her sister.

It was not until Mr. Southworth closely examined the two letters of introduction given him by the Googans that he realized he had been "stung," as he called it. One was the owner of a light-seeing vehicle, the other was to the driver of a motor police patrol! Incensed was also the consultation fee he had left upon the studio table.

"Smart Alecks must be dealt with according to their deserts," argued the Googan Girls.

Jonathan Hicks drew a fancy plaid handkerchief across his brow and puffed for several seconds like an anti-motored locomotive, before he came to business.

Lily and Tilly Googan were trying to appear at ease and to assume a confidence toward their client they were far from feeling.

"This motor craze has at last hit even me!" groaned Mr. Hicks.

"You were knocked down?" inquired the Googans in shocked voices. It was the only way they could imagine Mr. Hicks being "hit" by what he termed "the motor craze."

"Well, almost, a good many times," he admitted, unwilling to let such an opportunity pass for airing his old grievances. "But I mean the mania has invaded my home circle. My own family has betrayed me to the enemy!"

Mr. Hicks had always been known as "a horse man." He loved horses, and he had also found them profitable. Naturally he resented their increasing disuse, thanks to the motor.

"Now I'll tell you, I've expressed myself pretty strong on the automobile question, and I don't back down on what I've said. But there's my daughter, Mabel," he added, shaking his head. "No peace day or night. And she always gets what she wants!"

"So you want to get her a motor car, of course?" agreed the Googans.

"I came to you to help me. NOT to get her one!" he roared. "Now, do you get the point? Ain't it your business to help people out of motor dilemmas? Very well. Go ahead. What do you suggest?"

"Now, Mr. Hicks," began Tilly. "I'm afraid we can't take your case because—"

"Let me tell you what occurred the other day," broke in Hicks. "Being a lover of horses, it's happened that every anniversary or birthday some friend has presented me with a copy of 'Pharaoh's Horses.' We had one in almost every room in the house, and I enjoyed looking at 'em. If I wanted to see 'em in a small oval frame all I had to do was to step into the reception room. If I wanted them life-size—the front parlor, and so on. Well, the other day when I went home there was Mabel standing up on the piano stool as high as it could be, screwed taking down the medium-sized picture of Pharaoh's ponies in the dining room. 'Where you going to hang it to show it off better?' I asked, unsuspecting as a lamb. 'Down in your office, with the other eight,' says Mabel, chipper as you please. 'Why?' says I. 'Because I've got something more up to date to put in their place,' she answers as cool as a cucumber. 'Some of those new pictures of motor cars!' 'Oh, have you?' I asked, startled at her audacity. 'Well, we'll see about this,' I let her can those horse pictures—'but you've got to save me from buying a car!' He looked beseechingly at the Googans.

"I have already enlisted on your daughter's side to sell you one!" gently Tilly broke the news to the lover of horses. "Now, seeing you are here, suppose you look at our catalogues and we'll tell you all about the best cars and—" any village thimble. All the materials necessary are a tin tube 20 inches in length, two No. 4 porcelain knobs and a ground wire.

Jonathan Hicks stared at the Sisters Googan for several seconds, then he said with wonderful resignation: "I suppose it might as well be now as any time!"

The tube should be fastened in the same manner as a stovepipe and just large enough to admit the porcelain knobs, says the American Telephone Journal. Insert a knob in each end of the tube and with a pair of pliers or a hammer gently force the tin down into the grooves of the knobs at each end. This will secure the knobs in position. The completed arrester is then placed on the line wire, one section from the head, by slipping the line wire through the screw holes of the porcelain knobs, in the manner shown. The ground wire should be wrapped around the tube tightly about six times and soldered. It is then run down the pole to a well-made ground. A No. 12 galvanized iron wire serves this purpose the best. All of the arresters on the pole may be connected to the one ground wire.

This comparatively crude arrester, while not making an extraordinarily handsome appearance, serves the purpose of keeping the line discharge below the striking point and of diverting the major charges away from the exchange arresters and the arresters on the telephone.

"It's a very simple," smiled Lily Googan—but those who knew her were generally wary of that particular kind of smile.

"We can put you in immediate communication with a car owner," said Tilly, after a hurried and whispered consultation with her sister.

It was not until Mr. Southworth closely examined the two letters of introduction given him by the Googans that he realized he had been "stung," as he called it. One was the owner of a light-seeing vehicle, the other was to the driver of a motor police patrol! Incensed was also the consultation fee he had left upon the studio table.

MARK TWAIN'S STORY OF HIS LIFE.

Mark Twain refuses to let his captivating autobiography be published in book form until after his death, but his publisher has come to the rescue and we are to have Mark's masterpiece after all. He has consented to let it appear as a serial. It has been secured at enormous cost by the Sunday Magazine of "The Chicago Record-Herald," which has a name for capturing big prizes of this sort, such as Conan Doyle's "Stratagem" and Kipling's "Sons of Martha."

Thus it falls out that the reader of the Sunday Record-Herald are to have a delightful treat without extra cost. For months to come Mark Twain will go on telling in his droll way about the famous people he has met, how he came to create Colonel Sellers and Tom Sawyer, and all the funny things that have happened to him. The whole is to be profusely illustrated. The first installment—in the issue of October—is accompanied by a magnificent portrait of the humorist. Everybody who likes Mark Twain will want to read this great biography.

HANS ANDERSON

1 South Brown Street.

THE style, fit and quality of a man's clothes often mark his standing in the business and social world, and this can only be achieved by having your clothes made for you.

You owe it to yourself, your business and your friends to dress well. That means more than the selection of goods, either made up or in bulk. If your clothes are not made right, fine fabrics will not avail.

Ed. V. Price & Co., whom we represent, make clothes expressly for you that are rightly built over your form after we have carefully measured you for them.

The care and skill they bestow in the making means clothes that wear and hold shape as long as they are used, and this is the beginning and end of good clothes making.

Come in now while the line of Fall woollens is complete—don't put it off for even a day.

A Certain Cure for Group—Used for Ten Years Without a Failure.

Mr. W. C. Bott, a Star City, Ind., hardware merchant, is enthusiastic in his praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. His children have all been subject to group and he has used this remedy for the past ten years, and though they much feared the group, his wife must be always a felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was in the house. His oldest child was subject to severe attacks of group, but this remedy never failed to effect a speedy cure. He has recommended it to friends and neighbors and all who have used it say that it is unequalled for group and whooping cough.

His Dear Old Mother.

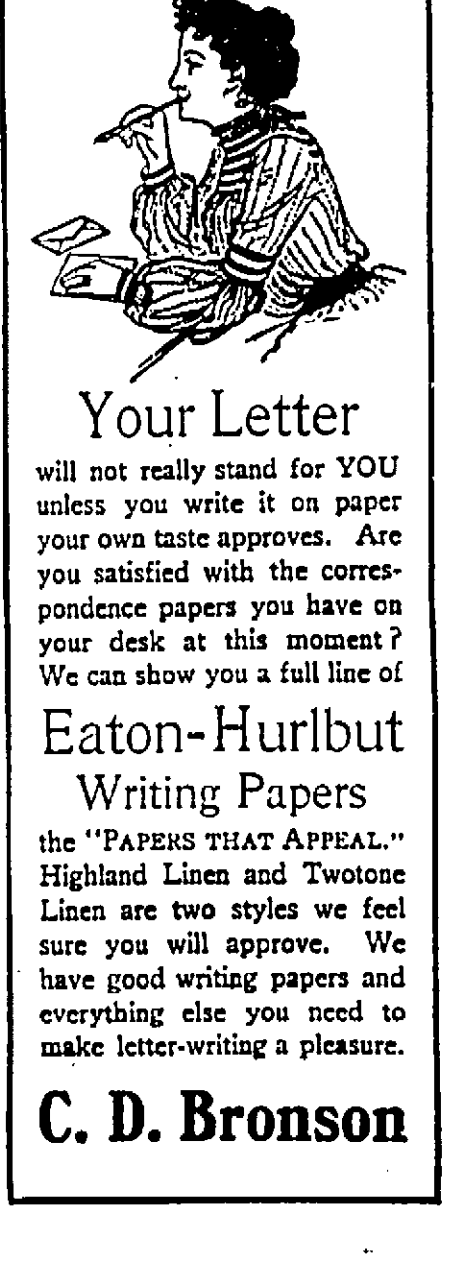

"My dear old mother, who is now eighty three years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Bronson, of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." Thanks the way Electric Bitters affect the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak puny children too are greatly strengthened by them. Guaranteed also for stomach liver and kidney troubles, by J. J. Beardon Drugist, 50c.
